

CPD module (level 5) for Teachers of English GCSE resits at the College of West Anglia, Kings Lynn

This new blended learning programme, subsidised by the Education and Training Foundation, aims to support participants to develop the subject knowledge and subject-specific pedagogy required to teach learners who have not achieved a good pass in GCSE English (Language) at school. This short video explains the rationale for developing this course.

Participants will have an opportunity to:

- analyse factors that might disengage GCSE English learners and explore strategies for motivating and inspiring them;
- evaluate and use approaches to initial and diagnostic assessment which actively involve learners in the process of assessment and target setting;
- plan effective learning programme for GCSE English Language courses;
- develop their personal English knowledge and abilities to teach a GCSE English Language programme;
- use a range of assessment for learning strategies and adapt teaching to meet the needs of individual learners; and
- reflect on their practice and identify ways to improve it.

Who is this course for?

- Existing teachers who currently teach GCSE English (Language)
- New GCSE teachers who have previously led Functional Skills or English/ literacy courses.
- Vocational teachers who have been supporting English development and are preparing to teach GCSE English.
- Teachers who have undertaken introductory GCSE training, such as the English Enhancement Programme (EEP)
