

Appendix 6 - Feedback from Vocational Teachers on Phonics CPD

<https://padlet.com/cpmcpartlanduk/sessionfeedback>

The screenshot shows a Padlet board with the following feedback notes:

- Anonymous 26d: It's me
- Anonymous 26d: Creating a glossary of terminology. Using puzzle pieces as an activity to help them spell in small groups for peer support
- Anonymous 26d: Understanding of how to simplify the spelling of individually difficult words.
- Anonymous 26d: Help my learners with new words
- Anonymous 26d: I am going to use the syllable method to help my learners to spell long words that may initially appear complicated. This will be great for an extension activity or start to the lesson. Sarah Hood
- Anonymous 26d: Going to use this with my learners for spelling activities for infections and diseases in there next lesson to help with exams
Emma
- Anonymous 26d: Excellent interactive session making me think differently about spelling. I will take this into the classroom to help develop learners terminology by using the puzzles.
- Anonymous 26d: Result of session I can use a range of strategies with my students and to help them support children's learning.
- Anonymous 26d: Use the strategies taught to encourage students to break down technical terms using puzzle pieces
Sandra Holmes
- Anonymous 26d: Use the word puzzles as a starter activity for words that may be a problem in the upcoming lesson
- Anonymous 26d: Use puzzle activity
- Anonymous 26d: Enjoyed session lots of strategies to support spelling
- Anonymous 26d: How to split up words
- Anonymous 26d: Informative and
- Anonymous 26d: Build up words with post it notes
- Anonymous 26d: A great way to learn how to break down words, and the use of listening to words and to think about syllables contained in them. It's important not to think spelling all comes all down to Phonics and sounds, it is about people remembering the way that some words are spelt. Students need to know this as well so that they don't lose confidence when not spelling words correctly. A great starter activity for introducing new words w students might not know